

Dams on Nujiang/Salween: Downstream will also Suffer

Nujiang/Salween River, the longest free-flowing international river
in SE Asia

Homeland of 13 ethnic groups in Burma/Thailand i.e. Shan, Karen, Karenni etc.

Human Rights Violations by Military in Burma

Photo: Free Burma Rangers

Agenda of Concern

Photo: Images Asia

1. Violation of Human Rights Forced Relocation, Forced Labor

Photo: SHRF

2. Environmental and Cultural Destruction

Photo: SEARIN

Dry Season Riverbanks Garden

Photo:SEARIN

3. Lack of People's Participation in the Decision- Making Process

4. the World's Source of Teak

5 Loss of Biodiversity Sources in SE Asia

Photo: SEARIN

• Fish Specie

At least 90 different fish species in downstream area on Thai-Burmese border

around 14 local rice species

Photo:SEARIN

90 vegetables in farm

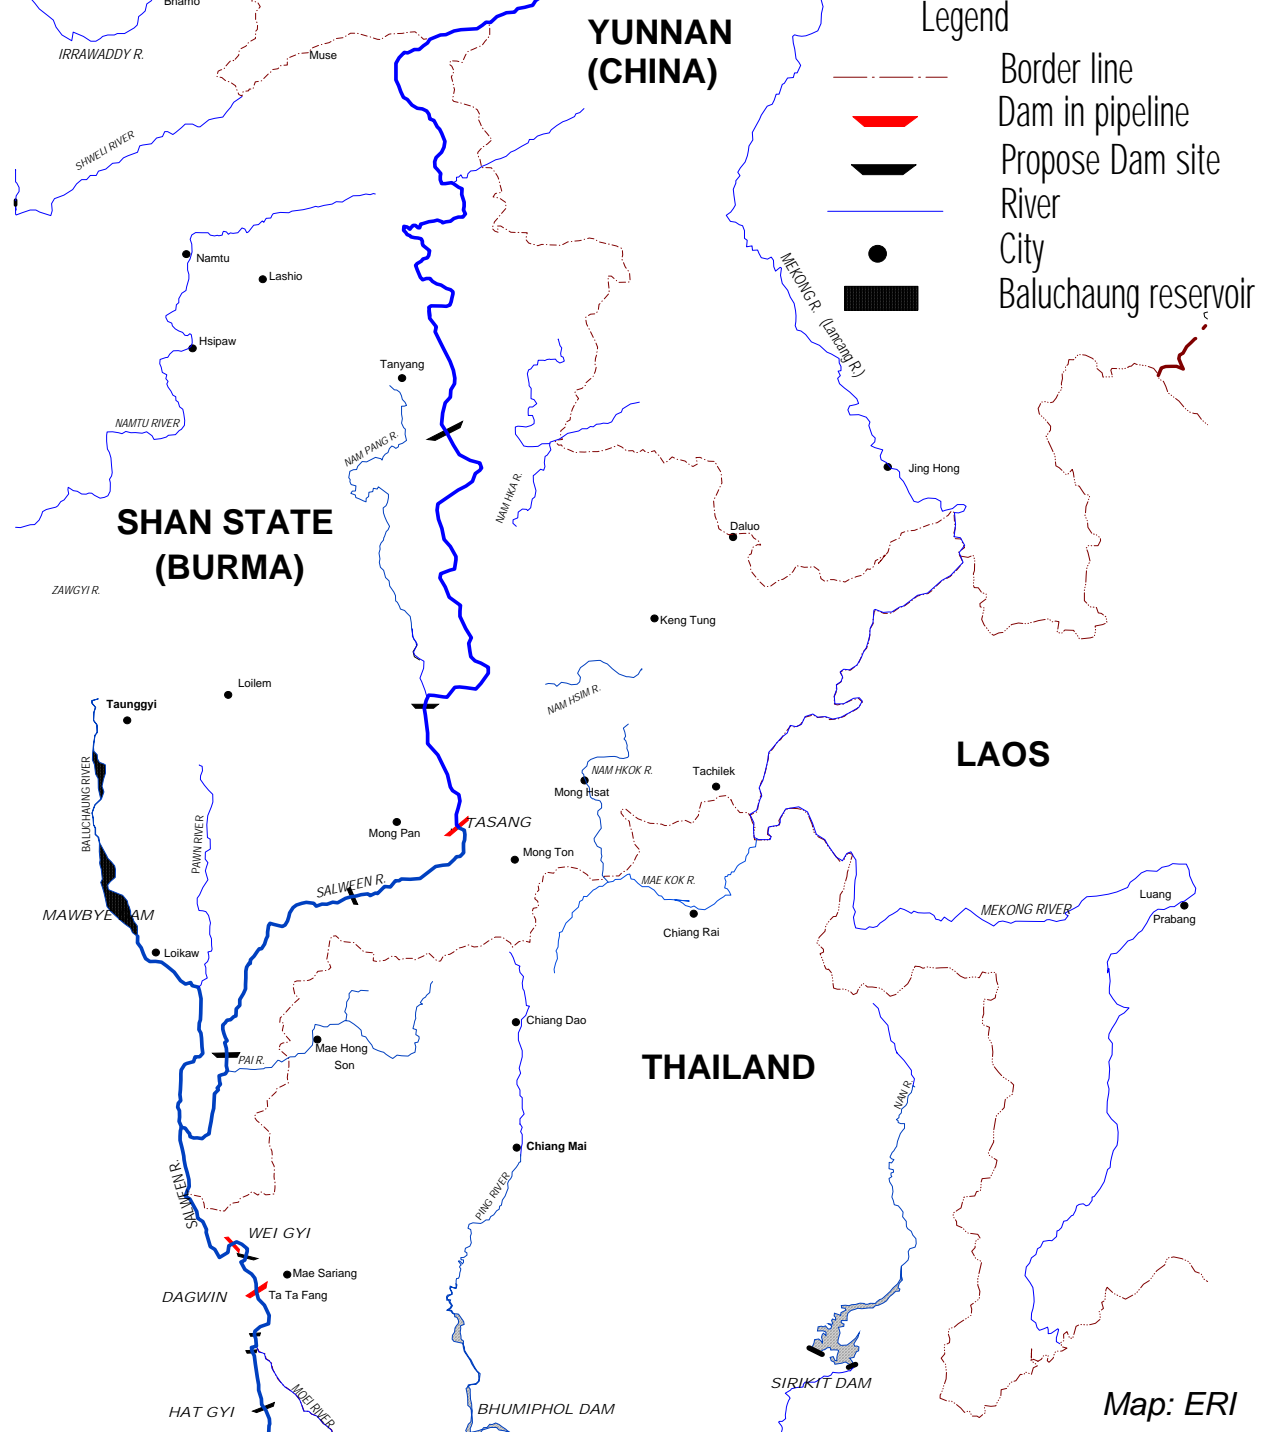

No Dam on Nujiang/ Salween

unless there is full consent from all affected communities in riparian countries

More dams proposed in Burma/ Thailand

Tasang Dam in Shan State in Burma

Photo: SHRF

Installed capacity: 3,300 MW

A Thai company MDX signed a MOU with SPDC in December 2002

Dams on Thai-Burmese border

Photo: SEARIN

promoted by Electricity Generating Authority of Thailand.
Installed Capacity: 4,540 + 792
MW